

Art

Diary

April 2010

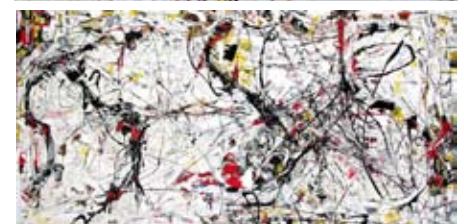

With the Arrival of Spring, the Beauchamp Art Galleries Have Been Busy Receiving Many New Paintings That Will Surely Add Warmth and Sunshine to Your Home...

For those who are fond of Katia Poulin's paintings, one may find some of her newly finished pieces at the Beauchamp Royal and Associates Art Gallery located at 124, cote de la Montagne, Quebec. Katia has just brought some of her recent creations. Some behold the style for which she is known for, when others have taken a different twist. Even though Katia has challenged her imagination in creating artwork that is different, she has stayed true to her theme. Her paintings continue to reveal the artist's deep felt emotions about life and love. Katia also prevails in creating an aura of mystery around the characters that inhabit her paintings. She has also succeeded in conserving that era of nostalgia and romance that seem to be her signature...

One can also find new paintings by artist Niko, who exhibits her work at the Beauchamp Art Gallery located at 50, rue Notre-Dame. As always, Niko's paintings depict the independent woman in all of her splendour. Suave and debonair, a nonchalant attitude that is very seductive. Niko excels in her use of bright, vibrant colours, capturing the very essence of the young modern Divas of today...

At the Beauchamp Art Gallery located at 10, rue du Sault-au-Matlot, one may find a series of newly arrived paintings signed Pépin. If one was to reveal Pépin's creative energy, one might suggest a free spirit, a globe trotter, a spontaneous artist who goes by his own rules...Pépin's paintings reflect the artists quest to reach what has yet to be seized. Pépin's art is a nonverbal way of expressing the artists' inquisitive nature. Pépin's art is everything but trivial or superficial, it is a reflection on life and all of its mysteries. An artist to discover...

Art Diary

At the Beauchamp Contemporary Art Gallery, located at 69, rue Saint-Pierre and 28, rue du Sault-au-Matelot, one may discover a new artist named Jeff Alarie. This particular artist comes from la Tuque, Quebec. His background excels in woodwork, iron, and glass. For his paintings, he has chosen a colour palette that is sober yet intensified with red, yellow, and blue. Each one of his paintings represents a phase in his life that he has had to overcome. Through his art, Jeff has invented a universe that he willingly needs to share with others. His paintings are an open invitation for those who wish to enter it.

The Beauchamp Art Gallery in Toronto has got People Talking...

One of the staff members at the Beauchamp Art Galleries in Toronto was interviewed by CBC Radio and CBC Television regarding the opening of this new Beauchamp Art Gallery in Toronto. A prestigious event for the Beauchamp Art Galleries, one of the numerous achievements realized this year. Imagine what is in store for the rest of the year 2010 at the Beauchamp Art Galleries with a jump start like this one...

A Most Fortunate Event is Often Followed by a Most Unfortunate Event... From the members of the Beauchamp Family as well as the staff members our dearest and most sincere condolences to Nancy Ferland's Family.

Nancy Ferland, an artist whose marginal ideas gave life to beautiful and intriguing art pieces. An artist who always stood for what she believed in and thus, created magnificent work. Nancy Ferland, an artist with a bubbling imagination, will be missed by all those who have been touched by her and her artwork. Sincere regrets...

Nancy Ferland 1972- 2010

A Spectacular Event Will Be Held On the 15th of May 2010
at the Beauchamp Art Gallery named Espace Galerie B8 located at 49, rue Saint-Pierre..
For the program, look on our website www.galeriebeauchamp.com